

American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee

The American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (AJJDC) is the world's leading Jewish humanitarian assistance organization, impacting millions of lives in more than 70 countries today. For nearly a century, AJJDC has been confronting poverty and crises around the world to:

- Save the world's poorest Jews
- Revitalize Jewish life
- Empower Israel's future
- Develop tomorrow's Jewish leaders
- Rescue victims of global emergencies

From the hinterlands of Siberia to the villages of the Negev to the frontier towns of Argentina, AJJDC reaches Jews in need with life-saving assistance wherever they may be. AJJDC's global network of on-the-ground professionals provides critical social-support services and helps build self-sustaining Jewish communities in Latin America, Africa, Asia, Central and Eastern Europe, and throughout the former Soviet Union. In Israel, AJJDC helps ensure that all of Israel's people can be part of the country's society. When emergency strikes, AJJDC is there, bringing transferable programs to scale to address pressing human needs, rebuild infrastructure, and reinvigorate community life.
